Joke for the week:

A ship captain was sailing along in the dark and see's a light in his ship's path and he tells the signal mate to signal the other ship to change direction to 10 degree's west. The response came back that the captain needed to change his direction 10 degree's to the east. The Captain got upset and told the signal mate to send a message telling the other ship I'm a Naval Captain, YOU change your direction 10 degrees to the west. The response comes back I'm a Seaman 2nd class, change YOUR course 10 degrees to the east. Now the Captain is really upset and sends the message: I'm a navel destroyer I AM NOT CHANGING MY COURSE. When the answer comes back it says "I'm a lighthouse it's up to you".
